

CHAPTER 4

EXTENSIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

IN GENERAL

The previous chapter dealt with duration of benefits concerning the regular UI program. However, extensions of UI benefits are available under certain circumstances. In addition, some programs provide benefits under conditions when UI is not normally payable. This chapter covers these special programs. In particular, it discusses:

- The federal-state Extended Benefits (EB) program;
- Special Federal extension programs;
- State additional benefits (AB) programs;
- Trade Readjustment Allowances (TRA);
- Disaster Unemployment Assistance (DUA);
- Short-time compensation (worksharing); and
- Self-Employment Assistance (SEA).

FEDERAL-STATE EXTENDED BENEFITS (EB)

Since 1970, Federal law has provided for payment of EB during periods of high and rising unemployment in a state.

TRIGGERS FOR EB—The following “triggers” are used to determine whether EB is payable in a particular state:

- Mandatory -- A state must pay up to 13 weeks of EB if the insured unemployment rate (IUR) for the previous 13 weeks is at least 5% and is 120% of the average of the rates for the corresponding 13-week period in each of the 2 previous years. (The IUR is the ratio of the number of individuals collecting regular UI to the number of workers who could potentially collect UI if they lost their jobs.)
- Optional -- A state may pay up to 13 weeks of EB if the IUR for the previous 13 weeks is at least 6%, regardless of the experience in the previous years.

EXTENSIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

- Optional -- A state may pay up to 13 weeks of EB if the average total unemployment rate (TUR), seasonally adjusted, for the most recent 3 months is at least 6.5% and is 110% of the rate for the corresponding 3-month period in either or both of the 2 previous years. If such rate is at least 8.0% and is 110% of the rate for the corresponding 3-month period in either or both of the 2 previous years, the duration increases from 13 to 20 weeks. (The TUR is the ratio of the total number of all unemployed persons to the civilian labor force.)

Note: Federal law was amended to allow a “look back” of 3 years for the mandatory IUR and the optional TUR triggers through December 31, 2011 if state law permits.

EXTENSIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

FINANCING OF EB—Under permanent law, half of the cost of EB is financed by the Federal government from FUTA revenues. (If the state already provides for duration of over 26 weeks for regular UI, the Federal government will also share in the cost of any weeks beyond 26.) The Federal share of EB will be reduced if a state (a) has no waiting week or permits payment of the waiting week at any time; or (b) does not round benefits down to the lower dollar. No Federal sharing is available for EB costs attributable to employment with state and local governmental entities or federally recognized Indian tribes. (These entities do not pay the FUTA tax, which finances the Federal share of EB.)

Note: Federal law has been amended to provide for 100% Federal funding of most EB costs through January 4, 2012.

SPECIAL QUALIFYING REQUIREMENTS—Generally, state law applies to the payment of EB. However, some special qualifying requirements exist:

- A worker must have 20 weeks of covered work or the equivalent in covered wages (which exceed 1½ times high-quarter wages or 40 times the weekly benefit amount) in the base period.
- A worker claiming EB who fails to make “a systematic and sustained” work search or to apply for or accept “suitable work” is not entitled to EB until the worker has been employed during at least 4 weeks and has earned a total of 4 times the worker’s weekly EB amount. Suitable work is defined as “any work within such individual's capabilities.”
- Any disqualification for voluntarily quitting work, committing misconduct, or refusing suitable work must be purged through subsequent employment.

REDUCTIONS IN AMOUNT OF EB—EB paid on interstate claims is limited to two weeks unless both agent and liable states are in an EB period. Also, workers who received TRA before EB triggered on in a state will have their EB entitlement reduced by the number of weeks of TRA received. In addition, some states reduce the EB amount payable to a worker during a period in which Federal sharing of the cost of EB is reduced pursuant to a sequester order.

SPECIAL FEDERAL EXTENSION PROGRAMS

In addition to the permanent EB program, Congress from time to time enacts temporary programs extending unemployment compensation benefits. The most recent such program is Emergency Unemployment Compensation 2008 (EUC08). This program provides up to 34 weeks of 100 percent federally financed compensation to eligible individuals in all states and up to 53 weeks in “high unemployment” states.

STATE ADDITIONAL BENEFITS (AB)

A few states have solely state-financed programs for extending the potential duration of benefits during periods of high unemployment for claimants in approved training who exhaust benefits, or for a variety of other reasons. Although some state laws call these programs “extended benefits,” this publication uses the term “additional benefits” to avoid confusion with the federal-state EB program.

The following table includes information about states that have AB programs. Caution should be taken in using the following table because: (1) some AB programs may be subject to annual legislative appropriations, meaning they may not be in effect; and (2) short-term AB programs will not be included if their legislative authorization expired prior to publication. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-5) has resulted in changes to some state laws as they seek to modernize their unemployment compensation programs. Please note that the following table does not align with the requirements established by P.L. 111-5.

EXTENSIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

TABLE 4-5: STATES WITH ADDITIONAL BENEFITS (AB) PROGRAMS

State	Name of Extension	Duration	To Whom/When Payable	Miscellaneous
AK	Supplemental State Benefits	13 weeks	Exhaustees of regular UI who satisfy the requirements for receipt of regular benefits and are ineligible for extended benefits solely because they do not meet EB earnings requirement of 40 x WBA or 1.5 HQW.	Permanent
CA	Extended Duration Benefits	13 weeks	Exhaustees who are not entitled to regular benefits, if they meet applicable eligibility requirements for regular benefits, are not subject to disqualification, and are not under a disqualification for regular benefits.	Triggers if insured unemployment rate equals or exceeds 6%
	California Training Benefits (CTB)	Up to 52 x WBA, less regular UI and any extensions paid	Claimants who lack competitive job skills and who are enrolled in approved training for a demand occupation. Claimant must apply for or inquire about CTB program no later than the 16 th week of receiving UI benefits.	Expires 1/1/2015
CO	Enhanced Unemployment Insurance Compensation Benefits	Lesser of 20 weeks or 40% of maximum benefit amount Duration not extended	Individuals who are enrolled in and making satisfactory progress in an approved training program which prepares individuals for entry into a high-demand occupation leading to stable, long-term employment, or an occupation in the renewable energy industry. Payable weekly in addition to the WBA.	Repealed effective 7/1/2012, payments made-until funds to cover-costs are substantially exhausted or June 30, 2012, whichever comes first
CT	Additional Benefits During Periods of Substantial Unemployment	13 weeks	Individuals who are not entitled to benefits under the federal-state (EB) program that week.	Triggers if an EB period is in effect
DC	Training Extension	26 weeks, less any deductible income	Individuals who are separated from a declining occupation and have exhausted all rights to regular unemployment compensation including extensions, and who are enrolled in and making satisfactory progress in an approved training program which prepares individuals for entry into a high-demand occupation.	Permanent
GA	Training Extension	26 weeks, less any deductible income	Individuals who are separated from a declining occupation and have exhausted all rights to regular unemployment compensation including extensions, and who are enrolled in and making satisfactory progress in an approved training program which prepares individuals for entry into a high-demand occupation.	Permanent
HI	Additional Unemployment Compensation	13 weeks	Unemployed as a result of natural or man-made disaster, as declared by the Governor. Must exhaust regular UI, not qualify for UI monetarily, or be self employed.	Must be approved by Governor
IA	Extended Benefits	13 weeks	If unemployed due to last employer going out of business, wage credits are recomputed up from 1/3 of wages for insured work to 1/2.	Permanent
	Training Extension	26 weeks	Individuals who are separated from a declining occupation and have exhausted all rights to regular unemployment compensation including extensions, and who are enrolled in and making satisfactory progress in an approved training program which prepares individuals for entry into a high-demand occupation. TRADE READJUSTMENT ALLOWANCES (TRA)

The Trade Act of 1974, as amended, provides for adjustment assistance to workers who are unemployed or underemployed because of the adverse effect of increased imports as a result of trade arrangements permitted under the Act or because of shifts in production outside the United States. Trade adjustment assistance (TAA) provided by the Act consists of trade readjustment allowances (TRA), relocation and job search allowances, and subsistence and transportation allowances during periods of approved training.

The Secretary of Labor has entered into agreements with state agencies whereby the agencies will act as agents for the Federal government in paying TRA and other allowances to eligible workers. Payments and administrative costs are paid for with Federal funds.

EXTENSIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

CERTIFICATION PROCESS—Workers are certified as eligible to apply for TAA if a group of 3 or more workers, or a certified or recognized union or duly authorized representative petitions the Secretary of Labor for a determination of eligibility to apply for TAA and the Secretary determines that the importation of competitive foreign products or shifts in production outside the United States contributed importantly to the loss of employment at the firm mentioned in the worker's petition.

QUALIFYING REQUIREMENTS—To qualify for TRA, the worker must have had at least 26 weeks of employment with wages of at least $30 a week within the 52-week period ending with the week of the individual's total or partial separation from adversely affected employment. Along with other requirements to receive TRA payments, the worker must be participating in an approved training program unless it is determined that training is not feasible or appropriate.

DURATION— Basic TRA is payable at the state UI rate over a 104-week eligibility period beginning with the first week after the worker's most recent TRA qualifying separation from employment. Basic TRA provides 52 weeks of income support less the UI entitlement in the trade-qualifying UI benefit period (generally 26 weeks of UI). Up to 52 weeks of additional TRA is available for a total of 104 weeks of income support. In order to receive additional TRA, a worker must be in TAA-approved training. Workers whose training includes remedial education can get 26 additional weeks of TRA for a total of 130 weeks.

SUBSISTENCE AND TRANSPORTATION ALLOWANCES—An adversely affected worker may receive TRA while participating in approved training. Workers may also receive subsistence and transportation allowances while attending training at a facility which is not within commuting distance of their residence.

RELOCATION ALLOWANCES—Relocation allowances are payable to totally separated workers who have no reasonable expectation of securing suitable work in the area in which they live, and who have a bona fide offer of suitable work in the area in which they wish to relocate. Relocation allowances consist of: (1) a lump sum payment of up to $1,250; and (2) 90 percent of the expenses incurred in moving the workers, their families, and their household effects to the location of their new jobs.

JOB SEARCH ALLOWANCES—Job search allowances are payable to totally separated workers who have no reasonable expectation of securing suitable work in the area in which they live, and who have a reasonable expectation of securing suitable employment in the area of the proposed job search. Job search allowances consist of 90 percent of the cost of the necessary expenses incurred in the job search up to a maximum of $1,250 under a single certification.

DISASTER UNEMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE (DUA)

The Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act authorizes the President to provide to any individual unemployed as a result of a major disaster such assistance as the President deems appropriate while the individual is unemployed. Among the types of assistance available as a result of a Presidentially declared disaster is DUA – a payment made by state UI agencies under agreements with the Secretary of Labor. Funds for both DUA benefits and administrative costs are provided by the Federal Emergency Management Administration to the Secretary of Labor who, in turn, makes them available to the states.

ELIGIBILITY—In general, Federal regulations provide that certain individuals living or working in areas affected by a major disaster who are unemployed because of the disaster are eligible for DUA even though they are not eligible for UI benefits or other wage replacement payments (e.g. the self-employed). Applications for DUA must be filed within 30 days of the Governor's announcement of a disaster in the state; the unemployment must be directly caused by the disaster; and, in general, individuals must be able and available for suitable work.

DISASTER ASSISTANCE PERIOD—The disaster assistance period – the period during which DUA is payable – begins with the first week following the date the major disaster began. DUA is available to an individual during this period as long as unemployment caused by the disaster continues or until he or she is reemployed in a suitable position, but no longer than 26 weeks after the major disaster is declared.

WEEKLY ASSISTANCE AMOUNT—In jurisdictions that operate a UI program¹ the weekly DUA amount is the greater of the following: (1) the amount of the average weekly regular UI payment (including allowances for dependents) in the state in which the major disaster occurred; or (2) the weekly amount to which the individual would have been entitled under the state law for a week of total unemployment had all of his or her work and wages been included as employment and wages under such state law.

DEDUCTIONS—The DUA payable to an individual for a week is reduced by the amount of any of the following that an applicant has received for the week or would receive for the week if he or she filed a claim: (1) any compensation or insurance from any source for loss of wages due to illness or disability; (2) supplemental unemployment benefits pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement; (3) worker's compensation by virtue of death of head of household; and (4) the amount of retirement pension or annuity under a public or private retirement plan or system if such amount is deductible under the state UI law. In addition, the weekly DUA amount is reduced by the amount of wages that the individual earns in a week as determined by applying to the wages the earnings allowance for partial or part-total unemployment prescribed by the applicable state's UI law.

SHORT-TIME COMPENSATION (WORKSHARING)

Like the partial benefit provisions of state UI laws, short-time compensation or worksharing programs allow a worker who is employed for a portion of the week to collect UI benefits. Whereas partial benefit formulas look at the worker's earnings, worksharing looks at the hours of work.

Under worksharing, an employer elects to avoid layoffs by reducing the number of regularly scheduled hours of work for all, or a group of, workers. In all states except Minnesota, a worksharing plan must be agreed to by both the employer and, if unionized, the union, and approved by the state UI agency. UI benefits are then payable for the hours of work reduced as a proportion of the benefit amount for a full week of unemployment. Several states require the worksharing plan to address how employee fringe benefits are affected. States that require benefits to be maintained are identified in Table 4-6.

Most states do not allow seasonal or traditionally part-time employees to participate in an employer's worksharing plan. Several states require employers to have all required reports filed and all contributions due to be paid as a condition of participation. Some states prohibit negative balance employers from participating.

Workers may not be required to meet a state's regular availability for work, actively seeking work, or refusal of work requirements, but are required to be available for their normal workweek. States may allow workers to participate in appropriate training.

In Hawaii, a partial unemployment program similar to worksharing has been temporarily codified and expanded. It provides an alternative to the complete layoff of employees, allowing employers to retain their full-time workers by reducing hours, while allowing workers to collect unemployment benefits for up to 8 weeks. The new partial unemployment provisions in Hawaii's law are set to be repealed effective July 1, 2012.

¹ In Guam and the Northern Mariana Islands, the weekly DUA amount is the average of the payments of regular compensation made under all state laws referred to in 20 CFR 625.2(r)(1)(i) for weeks of total unemployment in the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the quarter in which the major disaster began. In American Samoa, Marshall Islands, Micronesia, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (Palau), the weekly DUA amount is the agreed upon amount to approximate 50 percent of the area-wide average of the weekly wages paid to individuals in the major disaster area in the quarter immediately preceding the quarter in which the major disaster began.

EXTENSIONS AND SPECIAL PROGRAMS

SELF-EMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE (SEA) PROGRAM

SEA programs help unemployed workers create their own jobs by starting small businesses. To be eligible for SEA payments, workers must be:

- Eligible for UI;
- Permanently laid off from their previous jobs;
- Identified as likely to exhaust their benefits; and
- Participating in self-employment activities including entrepreneurial training, business counseling, and technical assistance.

The authorizing Federal law requires that no more than 5 percent of individuals receiving regular UI benefits may participate in the SEA program. Individuals enrolled in the SEA program will receive weekly allowances. These allowances are the same as the individual's regular unemployment weekly benefit amount. Participants actively engage full-time in activities relating to the establishment of a business and becoming self-employed, and are considered to be unemployed. Provisions of state law relating to availability for work, search for work, and refusal to accept work do not apply.
